Our Standards for Suppliers set forth Walmart's fundamental expectations of our suppliers and their factories on the treatment of workers and impact on the environment. The Standards also provide the framework for audits that measure how well suppliers are meeting our expectations. Unauthorized subcontracting thwarts our ability to enforce our Standards; and therefore, we have a zero tolerance policy regarding undisclosed subcontracting. We ask suppliers to familiarize themselves with the Standards and ensure that their factories are aware as well.

Walmart is committed to safety in our supply chain worldwide. We also recognize the need for heightened attention to the unique safety problem in Bangladesh. We expect firm commitments from our suppliers to meet strict safety standards, to be open to rigorous audits and to put the welfare of employees first.

In addition to the regular audits that Walmart conducts under our ethical sourcing program, the company recently announced that we will conduct more in-depth inspections in Bangladesh relating to electrical, fire and building safety. These facility audits are conducted by accredited and internationally recognized auditing firms and are based upon the obligation in our Standards to provide workers with a safe and healthy work environment.

Walmart ethical sourcing audits result in a factory rating based on the type of issues found. A factory that has been assessed as "red-failed/unauthorized" is one in which our independent audits have found serious or repeated violations of our Standards. As discussed in our Standards for Suppliers, these violations could relate to safety issues, social issues, unauthorized subcontracting or other requirements established by our Standards for Suppliers.

Unauthorized factories are not permitted to produce merchandise for Walmart. Walmart has committed to increased transparency in our supply chain. Transparency helps all stakeholders to improve worker standards. In keeping with that commitment, listed below are the factories in Bangladesh that not permitted to produce product for Walmart. Recognizing that facilities and practices can change over time, this list sets out the date that each factory was removed from Walmart's list of authorized facilities and is retroactive through January of 2011. As new results are made available, the company will publish them on this site for a period of 24 months.

Walmart offers this list of unauthorized factories to provide greater transparency and assurances to our customers, associates, and other stakeholders regarding the proactive steps we are taking to source products in a responsible manner.

This list reflects Walmart's independent conclusions that these factories failed to meet our Standards for Suppliers and is based on audits conducted by Walmart or its accredited auditing firms. Our

Ethical Sourcing team is open to discussing our Standards for Suppliers and our compliance criteria with interested parties. However, we do not discuss the specific factual findings that resulted in any particular factory being placed on this list with any third parties other than
